The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Regarding Claims 1, 20-23, and 25-26, McHutchinson teaches a restraint device and method for use in holding or restraining a child in a desired position handle (#18) means for gripping the restraint device; and attachment means (Fig. 3 #16) for attaching the handle means is positioned at or near a central balancing plane of a child's body.

Regarding Claim 2, McHutchinson teaches the handle means comprising at least one loop, the loop comprising at least one of fabric, plastic, elastomer, metal, ceramic, or composite material (Page 1 line 120).

Regarding Claim 3, McHutchinson teaches the attachment means (#12) comprising a single sheet or strap of flexible material so as to wrap at least partially around a child's body.

Regarding Claim 4, McHutchinson teaches the attachment means comprising a plurality of straps (#12 and #14) configured so as to wrap at least partially around a child's torso or limbs.

Regarding Claims 5 and 10-16, McHutchinson teaches the attachment means comprising one or more fastening (#22 and 20) devices configured so as to releasably attach the attachment means to a child's body.

Regarding Claims 6 and 18, McHutchinson teaches the fastening devices has one or more of a hook and loop (#22 and 20) system, buckle, tie, snap, latch, or ratchet

Regarding Claim 7, McHutchinson teaches the attachment means configured so as to position the handle means at or near at least one of a child's spine or sternum (Fig. 1).

Regarding Claim 8, McHutchinson teaches the attachment means configured so as to position the handle means at or near a center of at least one of a child's chest, upper back, lower back, or stomach (Fig. 1).

Regarding Claims 19 and 24, McHutchinson teaches a second handle (Fig. 2 #18).

Claims 1-8, 10-16, and 18-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 5,634,439 to O'Brien.

Regarding Claim 1, O'Brien teaches a restraint device for use in holding or restraining a child in a desired position handle (#12) means for gripping the restraint device; and attachment means (#10) for attaching the handle means is positioned at or near a central balancing plane of a child's body.

Regarding Claim 2, O'Brien teaches the handle means comprising at least one loop, the loop comprising at least one of fabric, plastic, elastomer, metal, ceramic, or composite material (#12).

Regarding Claim 3, O'Brien teaches the attachment means comprising a single sheet or strap of flexible material so as to wrap at least partially around a child's body (Fig. 2 #14).

Regarding Claim 4, O'Brien teaches the attachment means comprising a plurality of straps configured so as to wrap at least partially around a child's torso or limbs (Fig. 3 #14).

Regarding Claims 5 and 10-16, O'Brien teaches the attachment means comprising one or more fastening devices configured so as to releasably attach the attachment means to a child's body (#11).

Regarding Claims 6 and 18, O'Brien teaches the fastening devices has one or more of a hook and loop system, buckle, tie, snap, latch, or ratchet (#11).

Regarding Claim 19, O'Brien teaches a second handle (Fig. 3 #12).

Claims 1-18 and 20-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 5,775,967 to Lacoursiere et al.

Regarding Claims 1and 20-26, Lacoursiere teaches a restraint device and method for use in holding or restraining a child in a desired position handle (#28) means for gripping the restraint device; and attachment (#15, 16, 17) means for attaching the handle means is positioned at or near a central balancing plane of a child's body.

Regarding Claim 2, Lacoursiere teaches the handle means comprising at least one loop, the loop comprising at least one of fabric, plastic, elastomer, metal, ceramic, or composite material (#28).

Regarding Claim 3, Lacoursiere teaches an attachment means comprising a single sheet or strap (Fig. 3 #13).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 5,775,967 to Lacoursiere.

Regarding Claim 19, Lacoursiere is silent on a second handle. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the teachings at the time of the invention since the modification is merely a duplication of a part for a multiple effect for ergonomic ease of secure control and does not present a patentably distinct limitation.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
